

TEMPLE HEALTH IMPROVING THE LIVES OF PATIENTS EVERYDAY

Temple Health physicians and scientists are finding innovative solutions to treat complex conditions, create better options and develop next-generation treatments.

Leading the charge are nationally renowned clinicians and researchers who have joined the health system in key leadership roles. New clinical programs and advanced technology are offering lifesaving treatments for the sickest patients. Cutting-edge research is changing the way care is delivered.

Today, Temple Health is helping more patients in more places in more ways than ever before. It all adds up to one of the most dynamic periods in the health system's history.

Michael A. Young, MHA, FACHE, is President and Chief Executive Officer of Temple University Health System. Mr. Young is also President and Chief Executive Officer of Temple University Hospital. He is a five-time CEO with more than three decades of proven leadership at institutions including Pinnacle Health System, in Harrisburg; Grady Memorial Hospital, in Atlanta; Erie County Medical Center, in Buffalo; and Lancaster General Hospital & Health System.

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY HEALTH SYSTEM

Temple University Health System (TUHS) is a $2.2 billion academic health system dedicated to providing access to quality patient care and supporting excellence in medical education and research. The Health System consists of Temple University Hospital (TUH); TUH-Episcopal Campus; TUH-Jeanes Campus; TUH-Northeastern Campus; The Hospital of Fox Chase Cancer Center and Affiliates, an NCI-designated comprehensive cancer center; Temple Transport Team, a ground and air-ambulance company; Temple Physicians, Inc., a network of community-based specialty and primary-care physician practices; and Temple Faculty Practice Plan, Inc., TUHS's physician practice plan comprised of more than 500 full-time and part-time academic physicians in 20 clinical departments. TUHS is affiliated with the Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University (LKSOM).

LEWIS KATZ SCHOOL OF MEDICINE AT TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University, established in 1901, is one of the nation's leading medical schools. Each year, the School of Medicine educates approximately 800 medical students and 125 graduate students. Based on its level of funding from the National Institutes of Health, The Lewis Katz School of Medicine is the second highest ranked medical school in Philadelphia and the third highest in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. According to U.S. News & World Report, TUSM is among the top 10 most applied-to medical schools in the nation.

Temple Health refers to the health, education and research activities carried out by the affiliates of Temple University Health System (TUHS) and by the Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University. TUHS neither provides nor controls the provision of health care. All health care is provided by its member organizations or independent health care providers affiliated with TUHS member organizations. Each TUHS member organization is owned and operated pursuant to its governing documents.

Non-discrimination notice:

It is the policy of Temple University Hospital, Inc. that no one shall be excluded from or denied the benefits of or participation in the delivery of quality medical care on the basis of race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity/expression, disability, age, ancestry, color, national origin, physical ability, level of education, or source of payment.